N4C President's Message

I find in the photography magazines that I receive and read that most of the information and articles are on digital photography. In July I hope to attend the National Stereoscopic Association (NSA) Convention in Boise, Idaho. At the Convention I hope to learn how to do digital stereo photography. In stereo photography your two images need to be properly aligned. PSA salon entrants now send the stereo digital images by email to international salons.

When I was in South Carolina in April I was wondering why the photographs I was taking did not look as good as the scene appeared to my eye.

For one thing, your eye can see a much wider view than you can get on your camera. In my reading in a photography magazine the writer (Rick Sammon) said that we can see a dynamic range of about 11 f-stops with our eyes. He said "As an example, when we look at a landscape scene with bright white clouds and shadow areas under the trees, the clouds aren't washed out and the shadow areas are visible."

"The 11-stop dynamic range that the eye can see is more than slide film (about three stops) and print film (about six or seven stops) – and even more than the image sensors in digital cameras."

This information also confirms why I use split or graduated neutral density filters on my camera in scenes where there is a large difference in light in the sky and on the land and/or water. Rick Sammon further goes on to say that the eye's dynamic range "is possible to achieve/re-create in Photoshop, even using simple features like Shadow/Highlight. That's especially true when using High Dynamic Range (HDR). After taking several exposures of the same scene at different shutter speeds, HDR will automatically compile the different exposures into one out-of-this-world exposure."

The Web Has a New Look

Check out the new N4C web design at <http://WWW.N4C.US>. New content has been added. Watch the web for the latest information about the N4C Convention planning that will be finalized during the summer. Some of the highlights:

- The home page directs you to information about Clubs and gets you quickly to news about N4C.
- Currently, the "News" page covers the upcoming Convention, Springbrook (with a link to a slide show of 2007 photos), and the N4C Bulletin(s).
- The "Meetings" page will cover the Convention and Springbrook. You will find the registration form for the Convention and a link to the Central Iowa Camera Club Convention information.
- There are links pages to help us keep in touch with members are on the web. There are also many educational resources that may also draw visitors to the site. Send additional suggestions to: WEB@N4C.US

Ken Johnson is the new webmaster and welcomes your comments and suggestions on how the website might be improved. He can be reached by email at: WEB@N4C.US

N4C NEWS NOTES

Attended Workshop

The reason you didn't see us [in the Springbrook picture] is because we weren't there! We were in Hawaii attending a workshop in creative photography.

This was our fifth attendance at the workshop. If you are interested, they have a web site, www.huiho.org We have enjoyed the sessions immensely. They are held on the island of Molokai and the staff includes DeWitt Jones, an ex National Geographic photographer who writes for Outdoor Photographer. Rikki Cooke, also an ex NG photog, and Theresa Airey, an expert at print-making and lots of other things. There is also a young man, Jonathon Kingston, who knows everything about computers.

They are super-people, as are the attendees who have their own areas of expertise. This year there were 19 attendees, the most they have ever had.

We were sorry to miss Springbrook, and we won't be at Convention either because we will be in Ireland!! I'm working hard getting the tabulations up to date and the lists prepared.

—Jim & Joy Coffey, FMCC

Photographs Published

Photographs taken by St. Paul Camera Club members Tom Farrell, Brian Gardner, Tom Johnson, Phyllis Kedl, Colleen McGuire, Frank Mazzocco, Gene Schwope, and Pat Schwope were published in the AIA Guide to the Twin Cities - The Essential Source on the Architecture of Minneapolis and St. Paul, published by the Minnesota Historical Society Press in May.

Written by Larry Millett, the 683-page book was edited by SPCC member Shannon Gardner.

IRS News

Hi,

I have received a letter from the IRS. From this year hence we will be having to file an annual report due to a new ruling by IRS. Furthermore...

"Anyone making a donation may not deduct contributions made to our organization."

—Lynda Richards, N4C Treasurer

PSA International Exhibitor Recognition

The May issue of the PSA Journal listed several N4C people in the annual worldwide Who's Who in Photography for 2006. The April N4C News Bulletin showed the names of several of the N4C members, however there were a few not listed. Additional people not listed earlier are: Jack Gustison (2) and John F. Larson Jr. (6) from the Shutterbug Camera Club, Burlington, Iowa and Ryno Olson (2) from the Great River Camera Club, Muscatine, Iowa.

Young Photographer

Sioux Falls Camera Club has enjoyed the honor of one of the youngest photographers in the club's history. Ethan Vander Voorste, a 6 year old budding photographer, joined with his mother Amy and enters prints and slides.

Still Lost - Please Help Find!

A slide (the peacock head/feathers) was lost from last year's year-end competition. The photographer (Jan Huibregtse—Women's Color Photo Club) says, "I don't think anyone paid any attention because I can't understand how a slide can totally disappear. It has to be in someone's pile somewhere and overlooked. This is an original and I'll keep trying to find someone to return it to me. It was in last year's Nature final competition."

Please help Jan find her slide. Thank you.

A winner

This was the first year the City of Lincoln participated in the Employee Art Contest. More than 100 entries were received. Among the winners was Donna Gustafson who placed first in the Intermediate Division and received a check for $300.

Heather Shafer, Fargo-Moorhead
- HM - "Northern Cardinal Female" 57
Delores Meister, Iowa City

There were 29 prints entered by 8 clubs. The judging club was the Cheyenne Camera Club. See above.

Because our club is used to scoring from 1 to 9 we inadvertently used this range rather than N4C's 1 to 5. Mistake was not discovered until judging was complete.

The group of winning parints stood out from the rest in both large and small categories. Our whole club participated in the discussion and comments about the entries. We all learned from the comments. Several prints were not labeled as to category —large or small. Several prints were overdone in color saturation.

One club's entries arrived after the 15th and unfortunately was not judged.

Clubs all have to send their entries in to Marshalltown for year-end judging. Most clubs have someone attending Convention who can take home their slides and prints, but just in case a club does not have someone going to Convention, they should include return postage with the year-end entries they send in.

N4C Convention 2007

Marshalltown, Iowa

September 14-16

"Where NAMES Become Faces and Faces Become Friends"

www.centraliowacameraclub.com/07n4cconvention

Excerpts of Minutes N4C Executive Board Meeting April 27, Springbrook 2007

The semi-annual Executive Board Meeting of the North Central Camera Club Council was called to order Friday, April 27, 2007, by President Ed Lower. Ten Board Members were present.

Secretary Pat Schwope reported 26 of 42 ballots were unanimous for the entire slate of elected N4C Officers and Directors for 2007-2008.

Lynda Richards, Treasurer, reported profit from the 2006 Sioux City Convention was $1,258.11. Balance on Hand is $12,399. Lamar, MO club has become inactive.

Chairmen Larry and Delores Meister reported 69 registrations for Springbrook 2007. Springbrook 2008 will be held on April 25, 26, and 27.

Ken Johnson reported as Digital Pictorial Slide Contest Chair that 22 clubs participated in the trial run this year. A motion to accept the Digital Slide Rules, and a motion to have both a Digital Pictorial contest and a Digital Nature contest starting September 2007 carried.

The topic was tabled that N4C Member Numbers be adopted for all N4C contests (instead of makers' NAMES).

A motion that everything has to be sent standard postage, with no Library or Media rate or postage-metered returns was carried.

Jayne Owen will investigate ribbons without staples so prints won't be scratched.

Dwight Tomes, Dir #1, reported the winners of the 18 Photo Essay entries will be announced at Convention.

Ed Siems, Dir #2, discussed the possibility of a panorama contest.

Gloria Johnston, New Club Coordinator, sent invitations to Springbrook to clubs in Brainerd, MN; Mason City, IA; and Muscatine, IA, but received no responses.

Steve Thompson, Convention Planning, reported chairmen of future Conventions: 2007-Ed Siems, Central Iowa; 2008-Nancy Salinas, Minnesota Valley; 2009-Ladonna Tornabene, Duluth-Superior; 2010-Gerald Bonsack, LaCrosse.

Gene Schwope, PSA Contact, present to Francis Kingsbury a PSA certificate for 50 years of N4C's continuous membership.

Francis Kingsbury reported that nominations for the Founders Award can be instigated by any member of N4C.

In Old Business the N4C website
(www.N4C.US) was discussed at length.

N4C Dues

"The number of members for calculating dues will be based on the club membership as of the previous May."

N4C dues are paid in Sept. and would be for the number of members you have as of May 2007. Please make your check out to N4C and send it to:

Lynda Richards, N4C Treasurer

Rick Sammon's short article deals with seeing the light. He says, "when we take a picture, technically we're recording light. It's important to look for the highlight (bright or light) and shadow areas of a scene and set your exposure so the highlights aren't washed out – washed out highlights are almost impossible to correct in Photoshop". He also says when taking a picture, "see the light in your mind's eye – the direction, color and intensity. Photography is all about the light – the main subject in every picture".

Have a good summer taking wonderful pictures, and I hope to see all of you at the N4C Annual Convention in Marshalltown, Iowa in September.

Two New Contests Added for 2007-08

The addition of regular Digital Pictorial Slide and Digital Nature Slide monthly contests to the 2007-08 season was approved by the N4C Board.

The digital contest rules were adopted and will be included in the next N4C Handbook & Directory.

It has also been decided that all entries in the "Trial" 2006-07 Digital Pictorial Slide contest, including the winners, will be eligible for entry next year in the appropriate Nature or Pictorial contest.

The "Trial" winners will be shown at the Convention Best of N4C. However, they will not be judged for year end awards.

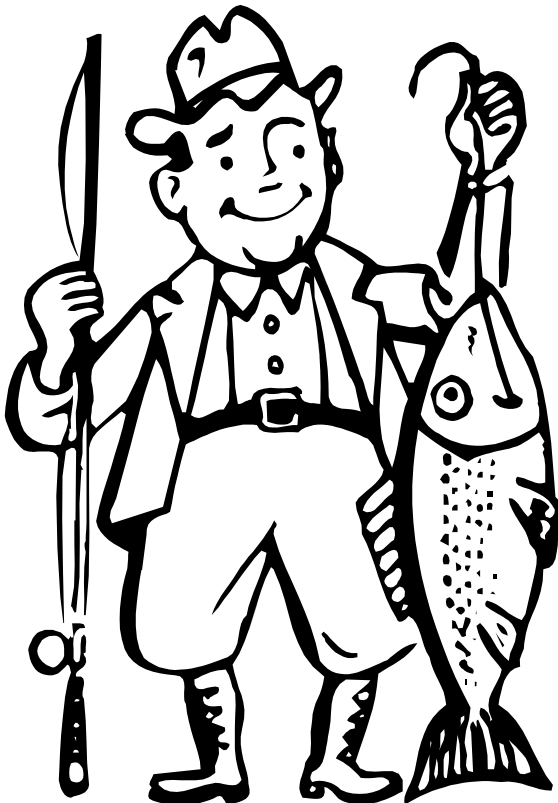

Neat Idea for a Camera Club

"I remember sitting in a class taught by Ruth Bernhardt where her first assignment was for students to photograph no more than 50 feet from their front door. She was trying to tell us that the world is filled with wonder, miracles that we fail to see because of the routines we follow." By George Schaul, May 2005 Shutterbug, page 10.

Wouldn't this make a neat "category" for a camera club to use?
